Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Elements of Non-Euclidean Geometry The present work is an extension and elaboration of a course of lectures on Non-Euclidean Geometry which I delivered at the Colloquium held under the auspices of the Edinburgh Mathematical Society in August, 1913. Non-euclidean geometry is now a well-recognised branch of mathematics. It is the general type of geometry of homogeneous and continuous space, of which euclidean geometry is a special form. The creation or discovery of such types has destroyed the unique character of euclidean geometry and given it a setting amongst geometrical systems. There has arisen, so to speak, a science of Comparative Geometry. Special care has, therefore, been taken throughout this book to show the bearing of non-euclidean upon euclidean geometry; and by exhibiting euclidean geometry as a really degenerate form - in the sense in which a pair of straight lines is a degenerate conic - to explain the apparent want of symmetry and the occasional failure of the principle of duality, which only a study of non-euclidean geometry can fully elucidate. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at This book is a reproduction of an important historical work. Forgotten Books uses state-of-the-art technology to digitally reconstruct the work, preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy. In rare cases, an imperfection in the original, such as a blemish or missing page, may be replicated in our edition.
