I know you stand in mortal dread of Pitt. I know you admit that you never think or speak of him without a shudder. Would you stab him to the very heart Then make France a republic, with a king at its head. Instead of that, what are you doing, and what is your friend the Princesse de Lamballe doing She tells England, to which country she has gone as your representative, that the highest ambition of France is to have a charter like the Magna Charta of England, and what does Pitt reply: That he will not suffer France to be made a republic, and that he will save the monarchy; but all the persuasions and entreaties in the world cannot induce him to promise to save the monarch, for he hates the monarch. For was it not this very monarch, Louis XVI. , who disputed his (Pitts) claim to India, and helped the American colonies to free themselves from the British yoke Pitt has but one desire, as far as Louis XVI. is concerned, --that his shall be a companion portrait to Charles I. in history. Monsieur, monsieur, who has told you all this cried the startled queen. The same man who tells me the contents of your Majestys letters. Then we no longer have so much as a thought that we can really call our own, it seems. As I have already told you, madame,...
